NEW CROSSWORD PUZZLE IN TODAY'S MAGAZINE

The new series of crossword puzzles appears on pages 6 and 7 of the Sunday Times magazine today.

For the died-in-the-wool fans who are going to try the diagramless puzzles here's how they are done. You work out the diagram yourself.

If the puzzle says 18 x 19, it means that there are 18 squares across and 19 down. If the second definition begins with 6 that means that the first one is a 5-letter word, If you cannot get the first word across, try 1, 2, 3 or 4 down to work out the word. Most puzzles are symmetrical. After each word black out the squares, and gradually you will work out

Big Welcome For Churchill

Stresses Closer Unity Between Britain-U.S. On Meeting Truman

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (CP)-Prime Minister Churchill met President Truman today and told him that co-operation between Britain and the United States can assure "peace and hope and salvation on earth for struggling mankind."

Carlsen Dances In Joy As Towlines Secured Four-Day Tow Job

Mrs. Carlsen Thankful

WOODBRIDGE, N.J., Jan. 5 (UP) — The slim, Danishborn wife of Capt. Henrik Carlsen waited tensely today for the British tug Turmoil to take in tow the listing freighter her husband doggedly has attempted to save in a stirring one-man battle.
"Thank God," she said Friday night when it looked as though the end of her husband's ordeal was near. "It looks as though my prayers have been answered." But Mrs. Carlsen, whose week-ong vigil has taken its toll on her health, said she would feel a lot better when the captain was safe on dry land.

"She is accustomed to waiting for her menfolk to return from the sea," the Rev. K. Kirkegaard Jensen, the Carlsen's pastor, said. "She comes from a small fishing village in Denmark.

But to the slim wife and their two daughters, Sonja, 11, and Karen, seven, the dangers of the sea are harder to face for the omen who wait.

LONDON, Jan. 5 (UP)-Capt Henrik Kurt Carlsen, skipper of the Flying Enterprise, radioed his wife, Agnes, and their chil-dren in Woodbridge, N.J., today through the U.S. destroyer Wil-lard Keith:

"Dear Agnes and children Very happy to hear from you Will contact on telephone as soon as possible. Love.—"Kurt."

ONE WOMAN'S DAY Says Union By NANCY HODGES

Now that the new year is beginning to get a bit worn at the edges it may be timely to talk about calendars and almanacs which, for the next 12 months, we shall be consulting almost daily—some of them, that is.

Of the former, our house has already received more than our just share. They range through all the gamut of the festive and functional, from the neat little desk gadgets sent out by banks and equally solid institutions, to the larger and more gay affairs given out by the corner grocer, destined to hang up in the kitchen and offer artistic diversion from house-hold chores by way of glamorous pin-up girls or lush pastoral

CENTURIES OLD

BUT when it comes to almanacs, there is nothing in my opinion to beat Old Moore's Almanack. It has, over the years, provided me with many juicy tidbits of reading in between snatches of seasonal festivities.

between snatches of-seasonal festivities.

In case any of my readers have never heard of Old Moore's, let me commiserate with them in having missed a source of entertainment enjoyed by millions of its readers for centuries. Not that there is anything consciously humorous or gay about Old Moore's. Far from it!

It is not only hoary with age; it has always been horrifically portentous ever since the original Old Moore—an astrologer well known in the England of his day—first started publishing it in 1697. As a "special caution to its readers," the current issue notes that it is carrying on both in the letter and spirit of the original copyright. letter, and spirit of the original copyright.

ASTROLOGICAL PORTENT

THAT captionary note continues: "To accept any imitation issue of Foulsham's Old Moore's Almanack is to court disappointment and annoyance for Astrology, as a Science, is quite unknown to the compilers of these imitation issues."

Evidently my copy is of the authentic variety, judging by its sombre catalogues of astrological predictions and world prophecies. And it never fails to intrigue me that the stars and signs of the Zodiac always appear to be working primarily to the desolation and destruction of mankind, according to Old Moore's lugubrious outlook.

DISEASE AND DISASTER

AM glad I am not a student of astrology for, if Old Moore is any criterion, Mars and Mercury, Saturn and Neptune, as well as all the other planets are due for another of their seemingly chronic mix-ups that produce such a dose of disease disaster and doldrums for poor, long-suffering mankind.

In characteristically gloomy vein, he carries on his 250-year old catalogue of dire forebodings, encompassing all the woes and desolation of plagues and pestilences, droughts and floods, wars and more wars, to worry the world all because, the signs of the Zodiac say so. And he accompanies his portents with "prophetic hieroglyphic engravings," which presumably prove their reliability—to those who can understand the hieroglyphics, which I can't.

GLOBAL GLOOM ON the global scene, Old-Moore warns that there will be acute crises all over the world—which isn't anything new, in my humble opinion. In fact, crises have been so common for years past that they ought to be easy to predict even by those who can't draw prophetic hierolyphic engravings.

The same might also be said of his portent that in August "the drums of war will throb menacingly," and of his prediction; that all over the world there will be the world free.

cuts get worse. There will also be more unrest about housing conditions, and epidemic of squandermania in Whitehall, plus financial scandals in the City.

I only hope Mr. Churchill didn't take Old Moore's along with him to read on his current trip to the United States.

Otherwise, he might be tempted to stay there. And I also hope the Old Moore's fell with the Old Moore's along with him to read on his current trip to the United States. hope that Old Moore's doesn't fall into the hands of the isolationists-for then even more dire things might happen.

Ford Head Claim Lie

Sale Refuses Share Of Responsibility

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 5 (CP).

Rhys Sale, Ford of Canada president, today termed an "outrageous falsehood" a union accusation that he shared responsi-bility for damage to the Ford plant during a wildcat strike Dec. 3-14.

George Burt, Canadian director of the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.), made the charge Friday. In a later statement the union leader also held that the ford president was re-sponsible in part for events lead-ing to the 12-day wálkout which followed dismissal of 26 produc-tion employees for alleged leadership of a brief work stoppage

Revolution In Canada

CANADA'S CAPITAL INVESTMENT is expected to break all records this year. It may well amount to $5 billions, as against $4.4 billions in 1950. If the larger figure is reached part of it will be represented by higher prices and the re-duced value of the dollar but still it will mean a physical increase of something like 4 per cent over the former record.

In other words the equivalent of a quarter of all Canada's earnings will be plowed back into industrial development public works of one sort or another All the money will not come from Canadians. Some of it will come from American investors who regard this as one of the safest and best managed ha tions in the world.

All the new factories built in Canada this year will mean greater wealth for the average Canadian in the future. But for the moment this use of our man-power, and materials is the largest single factor of inflation. Materials going into a new factory cannot be used by the or-dinary consumer. Manpower used to dinary consumer. Manpower used to build the factories does not produce any consumer goods.

Thus, however we may disguise it, our vast program of expansion limits the amount of goods the consumer may use at the moment. Later on, of course, when the factories come into production, the total supply of consumer goods will rise. We are now laying the foundations of a higher living standard in the future but cannot escape its immediate costs.

Still, we are doing very well, better than any people except the Americans and better than ever before. In 1930 (the last year calculated) the average Canadian, man, woman and child, spent $511 on goods and services as against $371 in 1929: These figures are in constant dollars and allow for the decline in the value of money. That is to say, we are consuming 38 per cent more goods now than in the great prewar boom.

This is an economic miracle unequalled anywhere else, except in the United States. It has been possible only because Canada has undergone an industrial revolution

After the first war, in 1921, manufacturing provided jobs for only 19 per cent of Canada's working population, and commerce—the distribution of goods only 17 per cent. In 1950 manufacturing only 17 per cent. In 1950 manufacturing provided 26 per cent of our jobs and commerce 20 per cent. In the same period agriculture declined from 37 per cent to 20 per cent even though its total output

Canada, in fact, has changed from raw producer to a manufacturer and is now one of the major industrial nations of the world. The revolution has been so rapid, so quiet and so well managed that most Canadians hardly suspect it or the change it has meant in their own lives.

There are many things wrong with our economic system, many problems unsolved, many reforms needed. But the factual record the world over shows no system which has done as well in creating and distributing wealth. Only one nation the United States, provides a living stan-dard higher than ours. The standard of every other country is lower. The two richest rich nations, the United States and Canada, both use the same economic system of free enterprise. Some other nations may not like that system but they

Protection For Courts And Papers

IN RECENT CASES HEARD BY A TOronto court four youths were convicted of rape and sentenced to imprisor ment terms ranging from four to 18 months. The Toronto Globe and Mail, in editorial comment, protested that these sentences were not adequate to the Unknown to the newspaper, a fifth youth, a juvenile, was being tried in camera in connection with the same attack. The counsel for his defense complained that the editorial was likely to prejudice his client's case and was thus in contempt of court. The judge thereupon found the paper guilty and ordered it to pay $60, costs of the contempt case

With this incident an important point affecting freedom of the press is raised. There is no argument as to the merits of the case in question. The Globe and Mail commented on a matter that was sub judice, although it could not have on of this at the time. But the question has a much wider application.

Under the Canadian system, appeals from one court to a higher jurisdiction may drag on for many months. Editors are prevented during that whole period seriously affect the public good, under threat of a contempt charge. And there is no appeal from the judge's decision in contempt cases.

The danger thus appears that proper mment may be stifled through fear of a heavy fine, or so long delayed that its applicability is lost.

There is no wish to interfere with the proper conduct of a trial by premature expression of opinion. But papers must be free to discuss court decisions and sentences; they have a service to render in protecting the public against abuses or incompetence which might con-ceivably affect the course of justice.

With this in mind, it is well to know that Mr. Garson, the federal Minister of Justice, by his statement in the Commons, is considering the question with a possible view to amending the Crim Code

It appears, as a result of the Toronto case, that newspapers, ever quick to up hold the integrity and authority of the courts, may in this respect need protection in the proper carrying out of their function as vehicles of news and opinion affecting the public interest.

Rowdy Indians At Smithers

INDIANS OF THE SMITHERS REgion, who won for themselves the unenviable distinction of being the only group of natives abusing the new privileges admitting them to beer parlors, were apparently quiet over the New Year's period. They did not repeat their disorderly displays of the Christmas week-end. The activities of the natives in the The activities of the natives in that area reflect little credit upon them, just as the participation of certain white men in the disorders lends them little stature. Presumably the action taken by police was sufficient to discourage Indians from making good their ige to do again on New Year's Eve pledge to do again on New Year's Eve what they did the week before—a performance which overcrowded the Smith

More significant, however, than the outbreak at Smithers was the apparent absence of trouble in other provincial communities where Indians accepted their new right to drink in beer parlors in a reasonable manner, or, probably more laudably, refused to take advantage of it at all.

Most natives have taken in their stride the limited relaxation of drinking laws which reflect discrimination against them. The reaction has been much milder than some of the more nervous friends of the Indians had thought it

It is important, nevertheless, to see ileges in beer parlors are dealt with strictly and promptly. Only by corrective action against the trouble-makers can the reputation of law-abiding natives be adequately protected.

Chips Off The Old Brock

OH, W X Y Z! as Mrs. Discobolos kept saying . . . oh, W X Y Z!' It has just come into my head that I've given you no prophecy for 1952. And yet I had prophesied I'd give you one, first thing.

And now here's the year half gone. Ah,
me. Well, it's never too late to pretend you were unavoidably dewere unavoidably tained. So I shall now haul off and give you Old Brock's Almanac and Universal Horoscope for 1952. The wonderful thing about this horoscope is that I don't need to know the hour and date of your birth. Nope. It applies to all of you, and me

January. One of the worst months to lend money in, so just keep cool.

February. An unlucky month for nudists, but quite short, On St. Valentine's Day all the loveliest and best of damsels will fall in love with the most repulsive men. But never mind, all the really likely lads will balance this by falling in love with borrible little mines. falling in love with horrible little minxes

March. Do not believe all you hear this month. Much history will be made this month by earth-shattering novels, movies, murders, divorces, boxers, act-resses, and provocative preachers.

APRIL. Various trends will start trend-A ing around in April, some of them doubling back on their trail just to fool you. Men born in January should check their investments from time to time. On April Fool's Day, certain men and women may act foolishly. But just remember, it is only the human race that keeps just one day a year for folly

May. A bad month for racing, love music, thrips, and finnan haddie. The days should be lengthening. In this month science will banish disease.

June. Turned out nice again, hasn't The omens indicate that you are in terested in sport. Well, that's all right, go right ahead. Many epic games will be played in a titanic fashion. I see you have still not paid for the license on your motor car. A dark stranger will call on you about this. Speak roughly to him; you have a lucky star.

July. Those born under Leo should start to plan their future. Spinach should be coming on. Start pickling walnuts now. This month the Council for a Bet-World will improve the world but not improve the men in it. August, Births, marriages, etc., will occurring sporadically. A cost-acc ant will cost-account government expenditure and will save a penny here and a penny there. He will even probe his own salary and give a nickel back. September. An unlucky month to criticize your wife's family. This month has an R in it, otherwise it would be Septembah. If you do not know how to shell all the oysters that will be trundling up to your door, just invent a rumor and they'll open up and tell it.

OCTOBER. Nights should be drawing in.' Drawing in their horns, or draw ing in their sketch books, it makes no odds. The planet Jupiter doesn't look so hot right now. On Hallowe'en various adult bugaboos will terrify the young with threats of police action

November. This should be a very jolly month this year, all laughter and high jinks. Saturn, however, is begin-ning to look a trifle cockeyed, wearing his rings-tipped over one ear. Old Brocky should now be composing a fresh horo-scope for 1953, and revising this present one. By now you will know he was wrong about 1952, but where he has the bulge on you is 1968. You can't prove him wrong about THAT.

December. Be on guard against financial worries. Make free use of tea-leaves, crystal balls, cards, etc., if the stars look weak and bleary. Try coffee if the tea-leaves look weak. Why not join a mind-reader's library? By December 1, Christ-mas should be almost over, except for the final details, which will persist through half of January. You will get a many good wishes, but none of higher quality than those from old Dave and possibly from the planet Mars.

There! That should hold 1952 for a while, I think. When I say "I think, I mean, of course, "I know." Far b it from us old prophets to betray ur

Nic Peeps' Diary Being A Chronicle Of Our Times

MONDAY, 31st-Blessed be God, at the end of the old year I am in very good health, without any sense of my old ake, but upon taking of cold. The condition of the State is this: nervouse peace, brisk industry, rich profits and richer wages. I staid at my place of busiricher wages. I staid at my piace of ousi-ness until 4, exchanging reminiscence with my fellows, and we were right civilly merry together. Thence home, where I schanged into my finest jack-anapes coat and shirt with ruffles, and went calling with my wife on Master Town and Mistress Doris Merriman And Tom and Mistress Doris Merriman. And I was tickled to the marrow with the manner in which this droll fellow doth play a spinet; which is to approach it with a buzzard's lurch, gaze off roman-tically into space, and paw the keys like a partickularly musickal lap-dog. Which, in a guarded moment, he confessed was an ingenious conceit; he playing so ill, and knowing it, served as a decoy to nobler performers, who tripp't in their rush to the keys. Thence by carriage through the night's bleak air to the home of Master and Mistress Carson, where were gathered a genial congeries of persons, including that handsome scholar, Swami Sivananda. Now he, wearing a long grey achakan, fastened at the collar, and speaking in a sing-song tenor, held his friends enrapt with tales of the Far East; of hypnosis, the Indian rope trick (which he doth pro-claim to be non-existent), and a strange belief of New Year's morn, which is that if Indians go to bed before 2 a.m., they will all turn into donkeys. And this caused great merriment, but we all staid up until 2 a.m., and ate an oyster stew prepared by Mistress Halcyon, demm'd

TUESDAY, 1st-This day, the first of the yeare, it is the custom to go abroad, and shake the hands of friends: but, growing anti-social, I staid at home. Instead, I turned my hand to the clean ing out of old pamphlets, notes, papers and magazines, in the doing of which I came across "Contemporary Verse," a most noble, albeit thin, volume of poetry, the business of which is conduckted by Mistress Floris McLaren of this city. By and by I stirred myself to a jeu du hockey but it proved a most crapulous affair, and bereft of the spirit of this day.

Mistress Heath Hutchison, one of the prettiest I do see, for a cheering grate and cup of egg-nog, demm'd silky. And I much admired the bicycle which Mas-ter Michael hath earned for himself by his labors. Thence home for New Year's turkey with Master Leslie Fox, his good wife laying ill in hospital, but mending and found him awaiting us which-Lord! -is the apogee of our rudeness. But we joyed ourselves in the bird and hot mince pyes, and sat lately, discoursing of the recent warre.

WEDNESDAY, 2nd-This being the first working day of the New Year, I set my alarum, and lept from the sheets with hoarse cries when it sounded un timely in my eare. A cup of sedative stilled my shattered ganglia and I quickly put on a suiting of hard worsted; very resolute, dull and pracktickal, for the stern duties ahead. My lunch was a bit of lamb, the consistency of a saddle, and I had little stomick for it. Anon I fell to correspondence, and put a great deal by. Then my wife and I, it being a great frost, went to Master Hutchison's, expectation to eat a sack-posset, but wits: Master Blair Fraser, a journalist of renown from abroad; Mistress Joan Hutchison, Mistress Corrine Moore, who leaves on the morrow for Montreal, and many more, and we ate with much laughter; and Master Robert with his fingers. Anon before a roaring fire there was lively discourse of politicks. and learned gossip of gentlemen in high places at home and abroad, which was fascinating to the eares, and stimulating to the minde

THURSDAY, 3rd-This morning my girl came a tapping at my door and, when I bid her enter, cried out gleefully when I bid her enter, cried out gieerully that snow was falling. Which indeed it was; and as I climbed into my carriage, I perceived a most beautiful orange rose, phiful and frail as it bent against the swirling flakes. And I counted my-self fortunate that I'd put on my heavy suitings, the one with great skirts, and cover-boots, which do seem ill-suited to this salubrious clime. At my office, there awaited three calendars, to mark geant of un days which drop away like autumn leaves in a gayle. By and by to the counting-house, to examine my layingsout, and thence to a shop for the repair of my pypes. But there is no man in all this city to do the task, so I must send them abroad, and wait a month or their return. Anon to my club, where Master Ralph Davis spoke with quiet as surance of the supply of water to citi-zens; he predicting that, unless new tunnels were dredged, and new pypes laid, we would be short of this vital life-stuff by anno domini 1960, which God forbid. Later, I chatted with Master Arthur Mayse, a writer of great talent, who hath this day published a new story, "Desperate Search," in a magazine of renown, and hard pressed with a new tale which proceeds slowly. Thence home for a cheering cup of tea, a quick nap, and a supper of warmed-over tur-key, which filled me to the neck. Thus early to bed with a copy of Life mag-azine, infinite full of photographs, rich of tone and color, and messages of grave import on the state of Asia.

FRIDAY, 4th—Up sluggishly, it being warm abed and cool outside; and did remove my whiskers, a daily tribal rite which vexes me to the pores. Returning to my carriage from my place of business, I found affixed to it a summons from a sarjent, saying that I had overstaid my leave, and must make forfeit, which put me in a vile choler. So to my club for a piece of beef and horse-radish. club for a piece of beef and horse-radish which brought teares to my eyes, and I was much chivvied by Mistress Mary keays, a saucy wench and great critick, of local journals. By and by there comes to me Master George Branson, and we discoursed of dogs. My supper was turkey, of which I have had a surfeit this season, and it joyed me little. Anon I took down Christmas greeting cards, but them away in a hox reflecting than I took down Christmas greeting cards, put them away in a box, reflecting that they increase apace, an amiable testimony of friendship. Thence by carriage to the Arena, where there was a great laying-about with sticks, in partickular in the hands of a young Grecian, by name Atanas, demm'd spirited. And it was great to witness these athletes so toying themselves in goals, that they joying themselves in goals that they embraced each other and wept gleeful tears. Thus merrily home to bed

A Searching Question: Who Is To Blame?

By WALTER LIPPMANN From Washington

A MONG the truths which are hard to swallow but are excellent for the digestion there is the plain but much neglected truth that we must in the end blame ourselves for our troubles. This surely is the beginning of wisdom for the Western democratic nations.

We shall never be able to deal with our problems successfully so long as we think of ourselves, as we have in all the wars of this century, as an innocent and respectable family who are so peaceable and so kindly that again and peaceable and so kindly that again and again gangs of robbers break into our unguarded house and very nearly murder us in our sleep.

What is most seriously wrong with this picture of ourselves is that when the gangs of robbers began their series of housebreakings, that blameless and respectable family sleeping within the house included the watchman, the teacher, the doctor, the banker, the lawmaker, of the whole neighborhood.

The decline of our Western society into its present inner and outer insecurity began, we must never forget, be fore the appearance of Lenin, Muss and Hitler, Stalin and Mao, and all the lesser Fascist, Nazi and Communist ty-rant-bosses of our era. In 1900, so great was the prestige of the Western nations that everyone, including the revolution-ary Socialists, took it as axiomatic that liberal and democratic institutions were the goal towards which all mankind was

That ceased to be true during the First World War when France and Great Britain were irreparably injured in the fearful massacres of that war—a war which they had not been able to prevent, which they were unprepared to fight, which they and we did not know how

Yet that infinitely costly war ended in a democratic victory, one so nearly total that our battered veterans from the United Nations Assembly, their heads bloody but unbowed, cannot now even imagine anything so dreamlike. In 1918 has said that he wants to pipe in fewer programs from the United States. Well he might. Consider what happened the other day over his network on the quiz program "Strike It Rich," brought in from NBC and sponsored by "Canada's Favorite Shampoo," "used by all the famous Canadian models." Well, that's what the chappie who cut in with the Canadian commercials said.

A fortune-seeking young lady on the program had just won $195. She decided to risk $100 of it on the next question. If she got the answer she'd win $385. If she muffed it she would still have $5.

Came the question. "Of what country is Nova Scotia a province?"

No answer. "Come on," coaxed the quiz-master. "This is easy. You know, up there where Halifax is; where the boats sail

The contestant took a wild stab at it. "England." she said. "I'm sor-r-y," oozed the quiz master. "It's Canada."

Then the mysterious voice that every once in a while breaks in on this program came on the air. "Tm afraid we'll have to give her the $385 because she really was right. After all, Canada IS part of England."

based on free elections by peoples who had long enjoyed civil and religious liberty. Only the free nations had armies,

There is no way to explain away the responsibility of the democracies for the failure to make a peace which was visible and could endure. The terrible things we have seen since then, the villanies and the crimes and the great convulsions came after the failure of the democracies, when their power was vir-tually unchallenged, to use their power

Lenin was still a refugee in Switzerland and Hitler was still an insignifi-cant corporal in the German army when the great trouble began. Lenin and Hit-ler and their followers have exploited and aggravated immeasurably the declin-ing powers of the Western democratic society. But if that decline cannot be arrested and reversed, if it continues— as it could—to the fall of our Western society, then the verdict will almost ce ainly have to be, in Arnold Toynbee's ords, not murder but suicide.

This is a hard truth to swallow berins is a hard truth to swallow be-cause, while it does not excuse our enemies of any of their crimes, it does not relieve us, the people of the free nations, of any of our awful responsi-bility. It is, however, the saving truth. For once we hold ourselves blameless, we have given up the conviction which must be there if we are to save ourselves.

In the measure that we treat ourselves as the innocent victims rather than as the blunderers who having had and having still the power and the responsibility—misuse it, we shall go on making the mistakes which have brought such ruin upon our society. Twice we have been victorious over our enemies, what can it have been but our core in What can it have been but our own mis takes in the exercise of our own power which have brought the Western world to its present plight?

Effects Of The Resale Price Legislation May Not At First Show In Lower Prices By MICHAEL BARKWAY, Correspondent of Saturday Night and the Victoria Daily Times, From Ottawa

WITH Parliament gone home, and rew sale price maintenance now against the laws of Canada, Mr. Stuart Garson, the Minister of Justice, has at long last taken up his duties as head of the Ca-

Barkway ing, and—he hopes—to make a side trip to western Germany. About the same time Mr. Churchill ar-

House and meet with Mr. St. Laurent and other Canadian ministers. Interest is shifting again to international questions. But in the meantime both the politicians and the businessmen are reviewing what Parliament has done about resale price maintenance.

The nub of the final argument came down to this. Mr. St. Laurent said resaie price maintenance permitted undesirable trade practices. Therefore the government proposed to try to stop them by the best way it knew. The results to the ordinary consumer might, he said, "be greater than we think."

If prices were not going to be brought down, he asked, why were the opposition making such a fuss about the effect on the retailers.

Mr. Drew replied, in effect, that the government was proposing legislation without knowing what its effect would be. It was upsetting patterns of retail trade which were well established for the sake of a purely hypothetical reduc-tion in prices. The government didn't know, opposition members claimed, whether the new law would be enforce

Now the law is on the books. It is now illegal to "induce or require," or to "attempt to induce or require," any dealer or retailer to resell goods at a fixed or minimum price. Manufacturers may still indicate or suggest a resale price, and they may enforce a maximum price. But they may not use any threats or induce-ments to stop a retailer going below the suggested price.

The public, looking for quick and obvious results from the new law, may easily be disappointed. The January sales would have happened in any case. They would in any case have brought perhaps even better reductions than usual, just because of the investory situation. cause of the inventory situation.

If you want to try to trace results the thing to look for is not so much reduced prices as varied prices. The object of the law is to restore competition to those parts of the distributive trade where it was beginning to disappear.
You will know it is having its effect if you now find different stores charging different prices for articles which used to be at a uniform price everywhere.

Opinions still differ about the probable end of retail trade in 1952. If buyer trend of retail trade in 1952. resistance continues to be as firm as it was in much of 1951, you may find stores making reductions which owe nothing to the new law. If shortage of materials, or gradual liquidation of inventries, makes supplies short, prices may tend to get firmer: again without any relation to resaie price maintenance.

The only way to check results is to make a pretty detailed study of goods which were sold at "maintained prices" until last Saturday and see what hap-pens to them now. It would be surpris-ing if Ottawa doesn't do just that, And politically these are the results which will count with the electorate.

But to economists and to people like But to economists and to people like Mr. Fred McGregor who have long experience of anti-combines legislation, there will be no short or quick answer to prove the results. They are inclined to take a longer view. They would like to be able to say, three or four or five years have that the result trade in Canada. hence, that the retail trade in Canada is fully competitive; that each retailer de-cides for himself how large or how small a profit he must take on everything he

The question of whether the new law can be enforced also remains to be answered. Admittedly it will be extremely difficult to prove that any particular retailer has had his supplies cut off be-cause he reduced prices and not for some quite different reason.

But the answer probably lies in the hands of retailers themselves. Any of them who are resolute enough to break away from prices which have so far been "maintained" have pretty good legal pro-tection against reprisals. If enough of them make use of it, there is reason to believe that the new legislation will be effective even if its results do not show at once in lower prices on many goods.

Cougars Break Out To End Home Winless Skein

Victoria 5, Edmonton 3 By BILL WALKER

Somewhere there's a key to the problem facing Victoria Cougars in their battle for survival in the Pacific Coast Hockey League.

It may be that Bob Ballance is the answer. Or it could be that the original "kid line" of Reg Abbott, Andy Hebenton and Bob Frampton is the spark.

Or then perhaps the supposi-tion that Walt Atanas is the de-weeks to be exact—that the Cougars last won a game on home ice.

But regardless of the eventual disposition of this honor which may again make the Cats the terrors they once were, the Cougars struck with a vengeance Friday night to clip Edmonton Flyers for the second time this year, 5-3.

And playing a major part in the victory—a triumph which lifted the club into a fifth-place tie with the Flyers—were the tion that Walt Atanas is the desired influence could be what was making coach Roger Leger, smile for the first time in a month at Memorial Arena Friday night about 10.35.

And Roger had reason to grin for it's been that long—four long weeks to be exact—that the Cougars last won a game on home ice.

Reg Made Presence Felt

Abbott, who wasn't expected to participate, started the play which saw Leon Bouchard fire a drive which ricochetted off Letter part of the second period, set the pattern for the remaining ger's leg into the net to tie the pattern for the remaining ger's leg into the net to tie the score, Frank Kubasek having over into the third . . . well, he given the Flyers a 1-0 lead in the sorpening period with a backhander from close in.

Hand the guy who made the stride in the by now, rugged, hard-checking fray, Abbott broke from the blue line all alone to Atanas' first goal, which gave from the blue line all alone to blast what proved to be the winner at 10.04.

Atanas' first goal, which gave the Cougars a 3-1 margin at 6.14

And as for Atanas.

The little fireball, who was defenseman out of position and willing to take on big Doug Mc laying the puck on Atanas' stick.

And the guy who made the Then in the third period with the Flyers pressing hard and matching the Cougars stride for what is recarded as the

of the second frame, came when he and Dorohoy broke together, Dorohoy pulling the lone Flyer

Flyers Never Gave Up Hope

The second was of similar design with Bob Bowness putting Dorohoy in the clear at the red line and Atanas punching home the pass from in front to provide the fifth and clinching marker at 17.07 of the final stanza.

Always behind from early in the second period, but never out of range, the Flyers twice reduced the Cougar lead to one goal through Nels Podolsky at 6.14 and Bill Pettinger on a long screened drive at 11.57, both in the five-goal third period.

Probably the key play of the entire game, however, must be credited to goalkeeper Jim Shirley. He stopped Earl Johnson on the doorstep with the score 2-1

Phil Fills Bill For Bowlers

Big ones, little ones; silver ones, bronze ones. If it's bowling trophies you want, just go and see Phil Smith up at the Capital City Bowladrome. A resident of Victoria for only 11 months, the popular ex-Vancouverite has already moved into the trundling picture and is in charge of the Capital's huge Christmas tournament.

The two-week bowlfest is scheduled to end around midnight tonight, and it is expected that there will have been close to 700 individual and team entries by that Then Phil will start on the tedious job of digging out the best scores from the stack of score sheets entered. And there will be plenty-one prize for every

'DEEP FREEZE' MAY END ON PRO ATHLETES' WAGES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (UP).-Profesional athletes' salaries merged from the "deep freeze" today and appeared headed for a permanent thawing out.

Even the $33,000 raise granted Stan Musial of the Cardinals seemed sure of finding its way into his pocket.

The wage stabilization board approved 1951 increases for Eddie Stanky, new player manager of the Cardinals; outfielder Del Ennis of the Phillies; pitcher Larry Jansen of the Giants and outfielder Andy Pafko of Brooklyn.

Musial's salary increase from $35,000 to $68,000 granted him last spring, was held in abeyance but will be ruled upon shortly, it was announced. Earlier, the Cardinals had indicated they had asked to raise Musiai's salary to $85,000.

"It looks to me like the salary stabilization board is about to lift the freeze on all increases to professional athletes," declared one major league club owner. "I think it's a good thing because the players who were granted raises, earned them on the basis of performance."

The amount of pressure governs the extent and sharpness of the resulting hook.

A ball delivered off the thumb will have only a forward rolling motion and will tend to wobble, the unsteady course increased by the likely possibility of the ball rolling over the finger holes.

How can a bowler make a ball roll in a straight line for 40 feet, then hook into the 1:3 pockets?

The answer is simple. The spin on the ball does not affect its course until its speed decreases. For the first 40 feet the ball could be said to be skidding in a controlled manner.

Dr. Brasset is a man of heart rather than of letters and if his book gets off to a shaky start from a literary viewpoint it soon makes up in human warmth, humor and courage what it lacks in craft. "A Doctor's Pligrimage" tells artlessly of the intensely interest range of experience of a newlyqualified physician in the more remote and little known areas of the Maritimes and in the telling paints a graphic picture of the country and its people.

Brasset, as a medical student, purtured ambition to become that prima doma of, his profession, a brain surgeon, but lack of cash forced him into general practise and, incidentally, to a richly rewarding acquaintance with the people of, first Canso, the desolate stretch of Nova Scotia that houses the relay station for the Atlantic cable where he was sole doctor for 2,000 people, most of them destitute, then a mining town where he did a little better financially and finally, to lattle Brook in the heart of Long. In their Saanich apiaries the bees build up in strength during spring, and do valuable pollinating work. Later, they are moved about 60 miles up-island to the fireweed covered logging slash areas of the Cowicham district for their main honey gathering. Tere the bees collect the thin, watery flower nectar which they cure and evaporate down to honey in the hives for winter feeding. A portion of this feeds the beekeeper, too.

The run on the new Fiji Health

The run on the new Fiji Health stamps has apparently exceeded expectations. A month after they were issued Colonial Office stocks in London were sold out. A second batch was placed on sale Nov. 8, and in less than a month these were also exhausted. As the stamps were only supposed to be on sale for three months it is doubtful if further supplies will be forthcoming. They are still probably available in Fiji, of course.

Southern Rhodesia has brought out a set of six provisional postage dues, formed by overprinting the current set of British postage dues with the name of the colony in two lines. Values are '4d green, 1d blue, 2d brown, 3d purple, 4d blue, and 1s deep blue. Popularity of picture windows, have caused some readjustment in the rules for winter window gar-

A north window of normal proportions has not been considered a good location for flowering plants, because of insufficient light. But a picture window facing north which is not shaded from reflected light of the northern sky, is a preferred location for most of the ferred location for most of the plants which are easy to grow in the house.

The light which such a window admits is adequate and it has the advantage of an even and cool temperature. In a room which varies between 70 and 80 degrees in daylight hours, the temperature close to a north window will often be 10 to 20 degrees lower.

be 10 to 20 degrees lower.

A picture window facing south, on the other hand, which gets the full impact of the winter sun will usually be subject to extreme variations of temperature. If you place a thermometer between a south window, and storm sash, on a sunny day, you may get readings up to 100 degrees, when the outside temperature is below freezing.

MOST FAVORABLE

East and west picture windows are likely to be more favorable to plants than one facing south, but the northern exposure is even more easily managed, and favors a wider variety of plants. Cyclamens bloom freely in this location and paper white narcissi do much better than in a sunnier window, where the temperature range is much greater. Begonias, which may be injured by too much sun do well. It is an ideal spot for African violets, Amaryllis, calla illies, and all the hardy bulbs will thrive, and of course the foliage plants and florists' green plants.

CANASTA

It Is More Fun If Rules Followed

HOW many canastas do you need to go out in two-handed Canasta?" asks a Chicago correspondent. "Twe heard a lot of other things about this game, but the number of canastas seems always to be left out."

The game is played in two or three different forms and the number of canastas you need to meld out varies in these different forms. Maybe that's why this point hasn't been discussed for a time.

In the most widely played type of two-handed canasta you need two canastas to meld out. In this game, you draw two cards from the stock plel at a time instead of the normal one card. You discard only one card, so that your hand increases by one card at each turn (unless you happen to take the discard pile instead.)

In the early days of canasta you were allowed to draw only one card at a time. Some people followed the rule that you need only one can-asta to go out. These games de-veloped into a race to meld out. Other players followed the rule that you need two canastas to go out. In these games, one player usually took the first discard pile and con-trolled the pile from then on while his opponent just sat and suffered.

There are even some people who insist on three canastas before you can meld out. (This is, of course, in the game in which you draw two cards at a time from the stock pile.)

You have to be very economical with your wild cards in this game since if you use too many for your first canasta you may never be able to complete a second or third canasta. A good player will very seldom use three wild cards in a canasta, and he'll struggle before he uses even two.

So there you are. It's possible to play two-handed canasta in a variety of ways. Pick the game that you like, and play it that way until you feel like changing. I recommend the game in which you need two canastas and in which you need two canastas and in which you draw two cards at a time from the stock pile. That's the "official" game, and in my opinion it yields the most lasting satisfaction.

Liquor Profit Exposed

SAILOR'S GRAB FOR RUM CASE

COST 15 DAYS, LOST HIM SHIP

A 15-day jail sentence was imposed against a British seaman in city police court today for stealing a 12-bottle case of government-owned rum.

Convicted was Victor T. Clifford, 28, of Durban, Eng. But Magistrate H. C. Hall ordered that the sentence date back to the day of arrest, which was Dec. 23.

Clifford was caught in the act of making off with the case of rum from the government bonded warehouse at Ogden Point docks. The court learned that although the 12 bottles would cost-the public $58.68, the government bought it for $8.08.

While Clifford was in custody his ship, the Ss. Langleegale, left for England.

The casual visitor to Dockvard or Naden might feel that nothing much is happening. The Navy seems to have a way of going about its lawful occasions without fuss or bluster, and the fact that Canada's second cruiser is being made ready for service could easily escape the unenquiring eye.

The other ships lying at their berths seem so quiet, so completely dormant, that you'd wonder where all the people are, what they're doing. But look around a little, peer below decks, crane your neck over the side of the drydock—stick around for an hour or so—and gradually you'll become aware of the continual drive toward perfection—the testing, experimenting, revising of designs—and ever-needed maintenance work—that keeps Canada's Pacific navy ready to do its job, wherever and

First of all, I saw the handlest gadget that was ever invented for the "poor ol" housewife.

Can you imagine scooping into a tin of flour or sugar and coming out with exactly the right amount that you want without having to measure it again to get the correct quantity?

Now, one of the other new arrivals that caught my attention was a rubber bottle and jar scraper.

It has a specially-shaped blade on a long handle that reaches hard-to-clean areas. You can get the correct quantity?

having to measure it again to get the correct quantity?
Yup! It can be done!
By means of a new scoop you will save precious minutes while baking. You merely set the scoop for the amount of the ingredient that you need, scoop, level off, and—dump it into your mixing bowl. Just think of time and dirty utensils you will save.

In the chandeliered auction rooms mannequins paraded in coats on which the bids rose £10 at all. Although most of the 13 minks went to trade buyers, housewives found bargains, too.

Mrs. Freda Robson of Northwood, Middlesex, found herself the proud possessor of a blackdyed Canadian squirrel model coat for £155. Part of the price reduction can be explained by the fact that second-hand fursted likely and the sell in Britain without the crippling 100 per cent tax effective on new coats.

Although some women had already found bargains they sat through the sale of the minks—just looking. One housewife, Mrs. Ann Kennan of Bexleyheath, Kent, gave a typical woman's answer to a question, about the eternal faceination of minks.

Jack Benny has been named radio's "Man of Year" and his show rated top comedy program as CBS radio shows and stars won six out of nine first places in the "Favorites of 1951" poll conducted by the trade publication, "Radio Daily." This is the second annual poll among radio and television editors and marks the second time that Benny has won the coveted award. In the television secand "Studio One" won the accolade for the best dramatic program. Other CBS winners are as follows: Best radio dramatic program, "Lux Theatre"; best commentator, Edward R. Murrow; best documentary, "Nation's Nightmare"; and the best children's program, "Let's Pretend."

Who says newspaper reporters aren't human? Two confreres, one of them facially distigured from a recent accident, appeared on "Strike It Rich" this week to try to earn some money for an orphaned blind youngster. Emcee Warren Hull noted that Gene Scanlon, the reporter who had been injured,

But Scanlon's reply was that he thought "the blind child could put the money to better use." This un-selfish gesture prompted a telephone call from a leading plastic surgeon attached to the National Foundation for Aid to the Handicapped to offer Scanlon and to the Handicapped to other Scanlon and Gene Flynn—both of the Jersey City Journal—went bankrupt on their quiz series but the program's "Heart Fund" donated $100 to the youngster anyway.

For the 11th successive year, the "Dr. Christia script competition is inviting amateur and professional writers to submit scripts suitable for use on the popular Jean Hersholt dramatic program. The contest, which will continue until the end of contest, which will continue until the chart of February, offers $2,000, as top award for the best script. In addition there will be three special awards of $500 each and cash prizes ranging from $250 to $350 for nearly 50 other scripts. "Dr. Christian" is heard Wednesday nights at 8.30 on Radio's popular sports commentator, Bill Stern, will report the final two days of the Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament at the Riviera Club on Sunday at 12 noon and Monday at 2.45 p.m. over NBC. Top players are expected to compete in the $17,500 open golf classic that traditionally starts the winter tournament season.

Mystery Surrounds Death

Former Chicago Cubs baseball player Hiram Bithorn, shown with his wife, was shot and killed in El Mante, Mexico, by a Mexican policeman. "It is very mysterious," Commandant of Police Fidel Garza said. "He had $2,000 in American currency in his pocket when he was picked up." District Attorney Jesus Govea said police arrested Bithorn as he was trying to sell his 1947 Buick for $350 without proper documents. The ex-hurler's brother, Waldemar, denied that Hiram was a Conand scoffed at the story of the Mexican policeman who reported that Hiram had confessed being a member of a Communist cell after he was shot.

Canadian Beauty Vanishes In U.S.

KEY WEST, Fla., Jan. 5 (UP)-Police reported today that a 21-year-old blonde Canadian beauty mysteriously disappeared during a fishing trip with her husband, who fainted when he was arrested for questioning.

A widespread air, sea and land search was organized for Madelaine Lucy Demers Lemay, petite French-speaking winner of 19th place in the 1951 Miss Canada contest.

She vanished Friday night from an island fishing spot 60 miles north of Key West.

BRISK WIND, SUNNY INTERVALS PROSPECT FOR CITY'S SUNDAY

Brisk winds, sunny intervals, and continued warmer temperatures will fill out the weather picture for Sunday, weatherman William Mackie said today.

"Present winds will die down and be replaced by south-westerly winds up to 30 miles per hour." he said.

A few traces of the year-end snow and ice still linger in the outlying districts, but are disappearing. Pretemperature tonight is 34, and the high Sunday 40. Highway travel offers no problems to moderate drivers.

Four-Day Tow Job Faces Gallant Skipper By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON, Jan. 5 (UP)-Valiant Capt. Henrik Kurt Carlsen today won the first round of his epic battle in the storm-tossed North Atlantic to save the broken and listing American freighter Flying Enterprise.

American freighter Flying Enterprise.

The tugboat Turmoil finally put a towrope aboard the freight er at 9 a.m. (4 a.m. EST). Carlsen and a tugboat seaman, made it fast and the Turmoil began the dangerous tow to Falmouth, at the southwest tip of England, 375 miles away.

The 37-year-old skipper who refused to surrender his apparently doomed ship to the angry sea danced jubilantly in the tilted bow. For the first time, he had more than a fighting chance to home for the aged, died from asphyxiation today when fire swept upward through the building.

All five lived on the upper floor of the three-story building at 2329 Hampton Avenue, in the Notre Dame de Grace section of Montreal.

He renewed that pledge today. He refused to move to the tug now that the tow was safely under way. He said he'd begter stay aboard the Flying Enterprise in case the towrope broke. The Air Ministry said fresh tower were not found until after the danger still was great.
